

Readers comments 310805

Drowning girl is saved - by a computer

A GIRL of 10 has been saved from drowning at the bottom of a 12ft-deep swimming pool after a machine told the lifeguard she was about to die.

Submit comments on this story

Your comments Total: 2

Page: 1

View 15, 25, or 50 comments per page.

what a brilliant piece of equipment a small price to pay id say to save a young life lets hope we see a lot more of these being used in the future .best wishes to the little girl hope you are well soon xxxx

heather clough, milnrow rochdale

31/08/2005 at 20:10

Incredible, the story and the system. Poseidon should be installed in all public swimming pools where vision of every aspect of the pool is impaired for one reason or another. Thank goodness the lifeguard was adequately trained in it's use. Full marks to him, and a speedy recovery to the little girl. She is so lucky it beggars belief!

Frankie, Spain

31/08/2005 at 16:14